is Giving Poverty the Boot

FARM-Africa is a charity working with rural communities in Africa: providing people with the training, seeds, tools and livestock they need to farm their way out of poverty.

Whatever we can raise will help more people in Africa to Give Poverty the Boot.

So let's give it some welly!

"We can use the money from the sale of eggs to buy small items like books and a football."
Juma, a school boy in Tanzania

"I used to knock on other people's doors begging for casual jobs so that my children could eat. After training (from FARM-Africa) I realised I was no longer the beggar. My children now eat three meals a day."
Teresia, a single mother of three, Kenya

Our grand total:

☐	£1,000	could help forest communities to set up a tree nursery, providing much needed employment and a sustainable source of wood to help protect the forest for future generations.
☐	£600	could help farmers to set up dairy goat breeding schemes, giving the whole community access to goats that produce more milk than local breeds. This nutritious goats' milk can be used to keep children healthy and any surplus can also be sold for a profit.
☐	£250	could help forest communities to take advantage of the forest resources by producing honey using simple beehives. This honey can be sold at market for a profit to provide a valuable source of income for families.
☐	£125	could help to teach children practical agricultural skills at school, such as caring for chickens or growing vegetables. These essential skills will help them to farm successfully throughout their lives.
☐	£70	could help to train a local farmer to provide basic animal healthcare in their community, such as deworming and hoof-trimming. Livestock is a precious asset in Africa so keeping animals healthy is extremely important.
☐	£30	could help to teach a farmer about the best type of seeds to grow on their land to produce the highest quality harvest – helping them to feed their families both now and in the future.
